

ELCA

EUROPEAN LANDSCAPE
CONTRACTORS ASSOCIATION

INVITATION

11.06.2021

9:00am - 10:00am

Brussels time

„Green cities, cities to live in“

How can the green sector make the city fit for climate change?!

After 3 extremely dry summers and regularly recurring torrential thunderstorms, climate change has also become a reality in the general public's consciousness. The FridaysForFuture movement exemplifies a change in society's perception of climate change, but also the dramatic nature of its consequences, especially in metropolitan areas.

INVITATION

ELCA Committee of firms Conference

‘Green cities, cities to live in’ by Philipp Sattler

11.06.2021 • 9:00am - 10:00am Brussels time

Subscription LINK: https://events.liveto.io/events/cof-conference?access_key=avain

Philipp Sattler

*1966, landscape gardener apprenticeship in Munich, studied landscape architecture at the TU Berlin and the Ecole Nationale Supérieure du Paysage in Versailles (F). After years of practice in Berlin planning offices, he has been working as an independent landscape architect in Berlin since 2001.

Visiting professor at the University of Kassel, among others.

Chairman of the DGGL Berlin-Brandenburg and vice chairman of the bdla Berlin/Brandenburg. 2017 to 2019 head of the DGGL project "Network Garden & People".

Since January 2019, managing director of the Green City Foundation in Berlin.

Since February 2020 also managing director of the "Initiativbündnis Historische Gärten im Klimawandel".